

SPEAKING COVID-19: A WORKSHOP FOR INTERPRETERS & TRANSLATORS

The Centre for Culture, Ethnicity and Health is offering a NEW two-hour workshop to help you interpret all things Covid in 2021.

The workshops are language-specific and take place on Friday afternoon.

In the training, you will discuss language around:

- vaccines
- Covid safety
- changing restrictions and advice
- payments and other supports

This interactive workshop includes interpreting activities in your language, as well as discussion of culturally appropriate communication around vaccine roll-out and safety.

The workshop is currently offered online. It is FREE and attracts 10 Professional Development points from NAATI (Category 1.5).

To find a workshop in your language, follow the Centre for Culture, Ethnicity and Health on Eventbrite.
